Dacapo Pizzeria by Eddy ~ a lovely Italian joint in the heart of Hua Hin

COMMENTS

One of the eateries that we enjoyed during our time in Hua Hin is this Italian place called Dacapo Pizzeria by Eddy, located in the heart of Hua Hin. We came across this place on the very last night of our stay in Hua Hin, otherwise we might have drop her more often.

The restaurant is just a small place, maybe seats about 40 and is in a row of many restaurants around.

The place has a little bar (good selection of liquor and wine), and a couple of big screen which we are able to catch some football matches on.

We ordered a few recommended items from the menu – the Lasagna al Forno, Rigatoni Ricotta, Pizza Salciccia and for dessert the Tiramisu.

The food here are so tasty – and cooked to perfection. When the lasagna al forno was first presented it looked just ok .. but then when you bite into it .. the burst of flavors hit you so good – so cheesy and flavorful you wanna just eat up the whole dish.

The Rigatoni Ricotta meanwhile is also nice ~ the rigatoni is so well cooked, the sauce is not overwhelming, with good balance of tomato, dried chili, ricotta cheese and parsley.

The Pizza Salciccia is very delicious, baked on a thin crispy crust, good blend of cheese (and loads of them) over a bed of lovely sausages.

The tiramisu is rich and creamy yet not too cloy.

My favorite for the night would be the Lasagna al forno and the Pizza Salciccia

I would say our experience at Dacapo Pizzeria by Eddy is good ~ food is delicious and up to standard, staff are friendly and always alert to keep your bread-stick basket and drinks filled. Since that evening we went was a little quiet, even the chef came out and asked about his food. Amazing.
